

Sapphire still number one Professional Advantage partner

Sapphire Systems maintains position as the number one partner for Professional Advantage for 2010

LONDON, UK – 24 September 2010. Sapphire is pleased to announce that it has been awarded the Professional Advantage Reseller of the Year 2010 accolade, maintaining the pole position.

Sapphire is a long standing partner of Professional Advantage, developers of software products that enhance the value of leading international software solutions including the Infor FMS SunSystems range. Professional Advantage works with over 20 implementation partners globally.

In addition, one of Sapphire's Account Managers received the Professional Advantage Sales Person of the Year Award, for the second year running, with two other members of the Sapphire team close behind.

"I am delighted that Sapphire has, for the second year in a row, won PA's Reseller of the Year Award" said Steve Howcroft, Joint Managing Director at PA, adding "Figures were up on last year and there has been stiff competition in the last 12 months. This is a significant achievement for the Sapphire team in the current tough climate and all deserve a big thank you from PA."

David Singh, Sales & Marketing Director at Sapphire concluded "We are very pleased that Sapphire is once again the leading partner for Professional Advantage; the team has put in a fantastic effort and it is always nice to see it recognised. Users of Infor FMS SunSystems can really make the most of their solution - and benefit from operational efficiencies and cost savings, by making a small additional investment, for example with the iPOS procurement solution."
